Dr. Samuel M. Zwemer, F. R. G. S. gave a lecture last night at the home of Mrs. Finley J. Shepard, at 579 Fifth avenue. Dr. Zwemer, who is making a tour of this country to secure funds for the Nile Mission Press Building in Cairo, spoke on "The Evangelization of the Arabic Language."

"The present awakening of China," he said, "will doubtless prove that not only in the past but also in the present the Chinese are above all nations clever in handicraft. It is interesting to believe that the Arabs, even in the Middle Ages, readized the inventive genius of the West, and no one who has ever studied the Arabic language, or even their literature as far as it has been translated, can doubt that the language of the Arabs, which they call "the language of the angels," is of all living languages perhaps the most delicate in structure, immense in vocabulary, and of great possibility for the expression of every form of thought."
